RAWN PAPERS SOUGHT IN RELATIVE'S HOME

Msterious Robbery Reported in Illinois Central Graft Scandal.

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—Detectives are today investigating a mysterious robbery at the home of Robert C. Brinkley, son-in-law of Ira G. Rawn, former president of the Monon, in Winetka.

Brinkley, who is now with a family in Virginia, is custodian of Rawn's documents. Official investigation of alleged graft in the car repair bills of the Illinois Central railroad, of which Rawn was former vice president, is thought to be responsible for the ransacking of the Brinkley residence. Many valuables were passed by the thieves, but desks and drawers where the documents might be placed were ransacked.

Society Party Caught in Raid on Club Will Go

Free.

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., Aug. 16.-The thirty society men and women caught in the raid on the exclusive Narragansett Club more than a week ago breathed a sigh of relief when Judge H. B. Lewis advised Constable John B. Cross not to summon them to court next Monday. Cross led the attack on the alleged gambling establishment, and warned all who were found in the place that they would be wanted as witnesses against Vice President William E. Arnold, of the club.

Arnold was in court today charged with maintaining a gambling nuisance. He again pleaded not guilty and filed a demurrer in which he alleges dubletty uncertainty, and insufficiency.

Edmund abandoned all effocts to control the car, and devoted himself to saving Ala as much as he could. He held her in his arms and braced himself in a corner where two of the benches running along the walls met. Even in that terrible excitement I noticed a look of confidence in her face as she fixed her eyes upon Edmund, Jack suffered fearfully from the shocks he received, and I did my best to aid him. In a few moments it became evident that the motionlessness of the car was sally apparent. We were still risins. Edmund gently placed Ala on a bench and went to the controllers. After turning a couple of knobs he faced about with a cheering smile.

"We are out of it," he said. "There is no more danger. The only thing there was to do was to keep on rising. We are now above the denser part of the atmosphere, and the cyclones are whiring far beneath us. #### FOG GETS BLAME FOR PERRY WRECK

VALDEZ, Alaska, Aug. 16 .- Details of VALDEZ, Alaska, Aug. 16.—Details of the loss of the revenue cutter Perry have just been brought here by the revenue cutter Rush. On July 26. off St. Paul Island the Perry ran into a heavy fog. The Perry undertook to go around Tenkie Point when a still heavier fog enveloped her. The course was changed but within two minutes breakers were sighted and she was upon the rocks. Captain Haake, of the Perry, sent all but four of the men of the Perry, including himself ashore. Then Captain Haake made an investigation and found that the Perry's botom was ripped. She was then blown to pieces.
